

THE COURAGEOUS JOURNEY

By Cheung Jun Hei, Haydn

Once upon a time, there was a boy called John. He wanted to help everyone, but he was too timid to socialize with anyone, let alone help his classmates. Even if he had the courage to ask his classmates, they thought that he was inept. Some of them bullied him.

One night, he was playing his favorite game - Jungle World. It was a game about a warrior who had to go on a journey to retrieve an extraordinary diamond to rescue the world. John was beginning to play the game.

As he started to play the game, everything in John's sight suddenly went topsy-turvy and he started getting dizzy. John thought, "Where am I?" Then he fainted and was dragged inside the game!

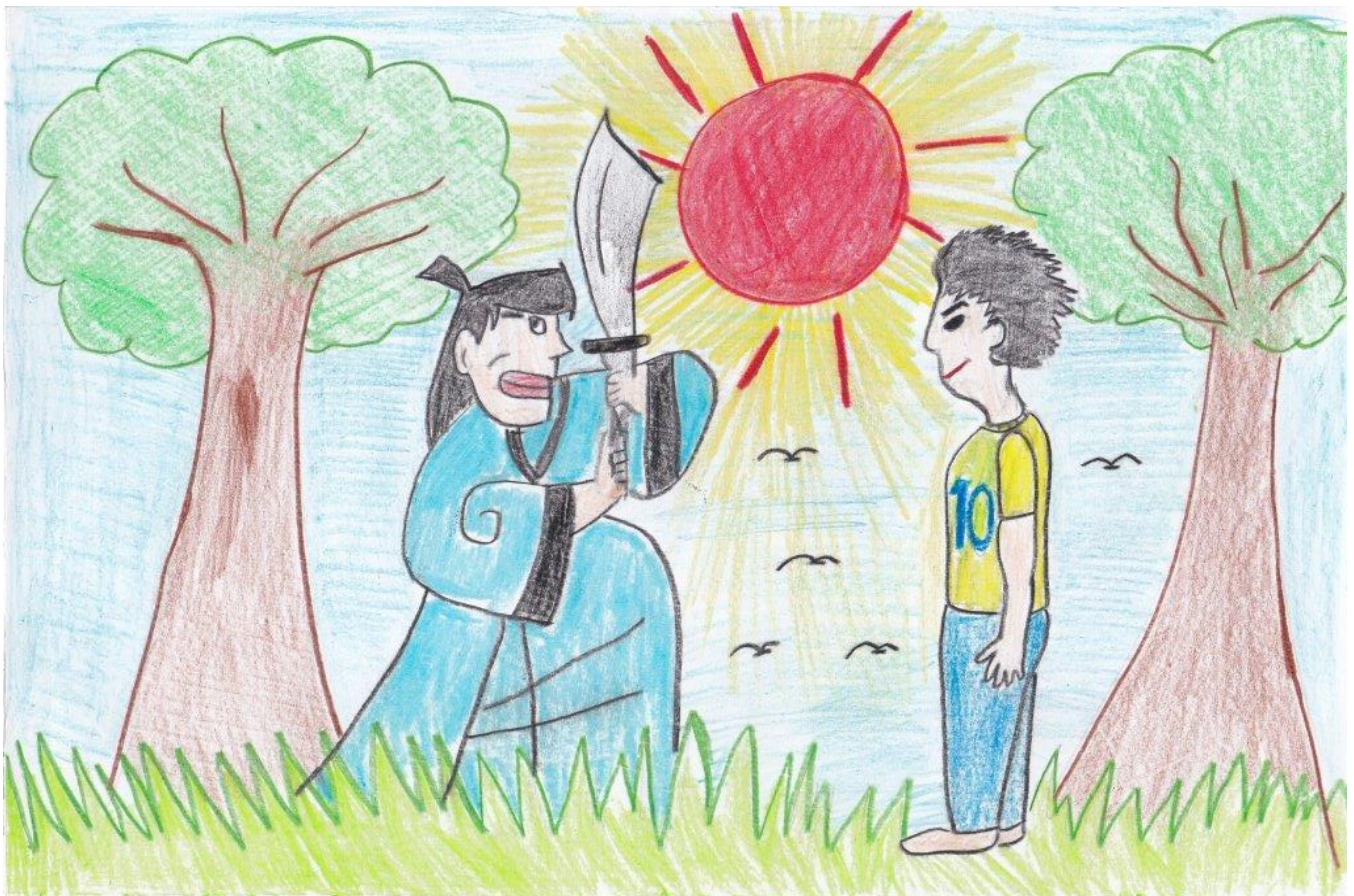

After an hour, he woke up and looked around. To his astonishment, everything had vanished. John asked himself, "Where am I?" I thought that I was playing Jungle World?" He looked around the place. There were tall trees everywhere and some flowers. He quickly realized he was inside the game.

John started walking into the forest and was curious to ascertain what creatures could be on the island. Suddenly, a samurai jumped from behind the bushes, holding a huge sword. He yelled, "Stop right there!" John quickly asked the samurai, "Do you know how I can get out of here?"

The samurai said, “You are the Black Knight! You have to defeat the bloodcurdling jungle giant and get its diamond to save Jungle World, or else the citizens will be in great danger and you will stay in this game for eternity.” John didn’t feel ready to fight the monster.

Over the next 30 days, the samurai taught John every tactic he knew. On the last day of his training, the samurai told John that he had mastered all the skills and was ready to fight the jungle giant. He gave John an enchanted sword with magical powers and strength.

John bid his master farewell and went to Skull Island, where the giant lived. He walked inside the jungle and found a lot of corpses lying on the floor. John thought, “What is this? Did the giant eat all of these?”

The giant sprinted over and used his mighty strength to hit John. John fell couldn't get up. He John thought about the citizens of Jungle World and almost instantly regained all his power. He concentrated all his power into his fist and used his ultimate attack and killed the giant.

He then went into the cave and found the diamond. Suddenly, John was back in his room and on the screen of his computer, it said, "Mission Accomplished!" Nowadays, John is not scared of the bullies at school anymore and he has courage to help his classmates.

- The End -